Dear Sr. Neruda:

I am forwarding a letter received today from Ben Belitt in which he encloses a letter addressed to him, as your translator, by Mr. Henri Peyre, Chairman of the Dept. of Romance Languages at Yale University, and a fine scholar and critic.

I am indeed delighted at his proposal, and hope you will be too.

As Mr. Belitt mentions, our volume is moving forward, and type is now being set, with a publication date set for November of this year. It is, I feel, a fine collection, and I am sure you will be pleased with the volume.

I recieved a request from Penguin books for a list of our Table of Contents, since apparently they envisage doing a somewhat similar translation. I trust their choices will not overlap ours, or at least to no undue degree.

With all best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read "Richard Seaver". The signature is written in a cursive style.
