Miss Gabriela Mistral

New York, New York

My dear Miss Mistral:

We were delighted to learn of your visit here in connection with your membership on the Subcommittee of the Status of Women of the Security Council.

The Council for Inter-American Cooperation, largely an outgrowth of the now terminated domestic program of the Office of Inter-American Affairs, is carrying on an extensive program to promote closer cultural, commercial and social ties in this hemisphere. Through a chain of Inter-American Centers in the large cities in the United States, the Council, among other activities, distributes printed materials, makes available a library of over 700 films on Latin America, tours prominent speakers, and extends hospitality to visiting Latin Americans. A weekly digest of hemisphere news called "Noticias" is published and widely circulated to leaders in inter-American affairs, educators, government officials, and business men. Miss Karna Steelquist, who is in charge of the publication of "Noticias", and I would like very much to interview you on Friday, May 3, at your convenience for inclusion of a write-up of your visit here in next week's issue. We would very much like to have your picture on the front page.

We earnestly hope it will be possible for you to grant us an interview. The telephone number here is Whitehall 4-0166.

Most sincerely,

Frances Iversen
