Dear Sirs:

We are planning to make the April number of the American Junior Red Cross Journal (our magazine which is sent to high school students enrolled in American Junior Red Cross) an issue which will emphasize the Pan-American countries, in keeping with the observance of Pan-American Day, April 14.

Two poems written by Gabriela Mistral were recently included in a school correspondence album from Chile. These poems have appealed to us as being particularly worthy of re-printing in the April Journal.

Will you kindly tell us what we must do to get the necessary permission to re-print either one or both of these poems? Would we have to contact Gabriela Mistral's publishers? The time for preparation of our material is limited since the April magazine is due at the engravers on January 6, 1947.

I am enclosing copies of the two poems I have in mind. If we are permitted to re-print them, would you kindly make any necessary corrections in spelling or punctuation?

We will be grateful for your giving us the information we need to clear the poems for publication.

Sincerely yours,

Lois S. Johnson
