Dear Mrs. Migel:

I don't think I ever mentioned the fact that when Gabriela Mistral's last letter arrived, the envelope carried the following address on the back - Mary K. Nogueira, Embaixada Americana, 165 Avenida Pres. Wilson, 4810, Rio de Janeiro. I couldn't understand it at first, but she says near the end of her letter "Talvez mando esta carta en dos copias, por si se pierde. Si logro medio seguro sobraré hacerlo."

This must be the second one. I did not mention it at the time because I was waiting to see if the other would arrive, but it never did, and then I forgot about it. Also, she only says "talvez" and perhaps there only was this one sent. Perhaps, if she sent two, she would like to know that only one arrived, the one mailed in Rio de Janeiro. Or is this all much ado about nothing?
