My dear Señorita Salivia:

I write to request your services in connection with an issue of a magazine, which is to be devoted to Gabriela Mistral. This issue will appear during the late spring or summer of this year.

Since last August I have been trying to get from Mistral some information helpful in the preparation of this issue. So if you could find my letters, preferably the one written December 13, and get for me some of the information that I requested, I shall be very grateful. If you cannot find this letter, let me know, and I shall be happy to send you the carbon copy.

Sincerely yours,

Frances M. Barbour
