Dear Miss Dana:

We beg to remind you that we are always looking forward to hear from you about our proposed edition of the POESIAS of Gabriela Mistral, on which a draft of agreement is long ago in your hands. Six months have elapsed since we received the last news from Miss Daves, and we wonder whether the will has not yet been probated meanwhile. May we ask therefore when is to be expected the signature of the contract? Our Library of Nobel Prize Winners amounts by now to 50 volumes edited or in preparation, Gabriela Mistral being the most regrettable among the few names still lacking in our catalog.

Thanking you in advance for your kind answer, we remain

Very truly yours,

Richards
