Dear Doris:

Jack Goellner tells me that you have mailed us a copy of your translations of the Gabriela Mistral materials, a copy of which you also delivered to him. He reports that everything looks quite favorable for continued work on the volume, which he hopes to have published by mid-January, 1971.

You will be pleased to know that Pancho has promised me a manuscript of the introductory matter next week. At the same time, he returned to me the materials which you very generously let him have. I am sending them to you herewith.

It looks as though we are on the home stretch with this interesting and I hope significant volume.

Cordially,

Howard

P.S. I note that what Pancho has given me is merely your translation of the poems. If there is other material which he has and you will wish returned, you had better write him directly about it.
