

The first of these is the fact that the British people are not a homogeneous mass. They are a collection of many different groups, each with its own interests and opinions. This is why it is so difficult to make a decision which will satisfy everyone. The Government must therefore try to find a compromise which will be acceptable to the majority. This is the only way to ensure that the country is governed in the best interests of all its people.
