Mr. J. G. Goellner
Editorial Director
The Johns Hopkins Press
Baltimore, Maryland

Dear Mr. Goellner:

My literary agent, Miss Joan Daves, has sent me her recommendations regarding the proposed contract, and I am enclosing a copy of these. I do not feel there will be any difficulty in working out the details since so many of her suggestions are basically the same as in your proposed contract, but expressed in a different form.

Miss Daves's suggestion that you get in touch with her directly seems most sensible to me and would speed up matters considerably. Her new address is: Suite 2502, 515 Madison Avenue, New York, New York, 10022. Her telephone is (212) PLaza 9-6250.

The artist, Antonio Frasconi (only recently returned from California), has expressed great enthusiasm in regard to his creating black and white illustrations for Gabriela's book of poetry. His price is $1000. down, and a total price of $3000. May I suggest that you get in touch with Dr. Cline about Frasconi.

If it is possible to include these illustrations, the works of this world-famous artist would add tremendous prestige to the book. I am sending copies of a few articles about Frasconi to Dr. Cline, and feel sure you will want to take a look at these. As you probably know, Frasconi is the artist who illustrated Neruda's book of English translations.

I hope to hear from you soon.

Sincerely yours,

Doris Dana
