Dear Miss Dana:

In the course of a recent meeting with Miss Marietta Daniels on the subject of the "Books for the People Fund, Inc.," we learned that you are preparing the poems of Gabriella Mistral for publication. Our publishing firm is interested in collaborating with the "Books for the People Fund" and your collection of poems seems to us a most suitable subject for publication under this program.

Although we understand that the "Books for the People" project has not yet reached the implementation stage, and no specific publishing house has been selected to assist in this program, we would appreciate it if we could obtain from you some idea as to your intentions for publication and present editorial status of the poems.

Our publishing house is a relatively small one, but it has the advantage of being located in Washington, D. C. and in touch with the principal promoters of the "Books for the People Fund." Miss Marietta Daniels is aware that we are getting in touch with you as a first step in exploring this matter.

Sincerely yours,

Robert D. van Roijen
Executive Vice President
