Dear Ms. Dana,

May I have your permission to make musical settings of your translations of Gabriela Mistral's poetry? I wrote early in the year but the letter must have gotten lost as I used the Johns Hopkins address in the book which is incomplete. This time I asked the research librarian to find the address for me and got a reply which gave me your personal address.

It is difficult to find beautiful poetry that will be enhanced by music and that you can imagine sung on a program. Your translations of the Gabriela Mistral poetry are quite musical and her subject matter is so singable, songs of nature "TIME", love, sorrow, children.... While I've been waiting I've set some experimentally and it works beautifully. I can have friends make a tape and send it to you if you like. Have you made any more translations that are not included in the book? I'd love to see them and absorb them and wait and see if anything happens.

Thank you for "listening". I'm anxious to hear your reply.

Sincerely,

P.S. DO YOU KNOW WHERE A PAPER BANG COPY
CAN BE BOUGHT? I'VE TRIED ALL THE BOOKSTORES
WITH NO SUCCESS SO I KEEP BORROWING THE LIBRARY COPY -
