Dear Miss Dana:

On April 29 we wrote you a letter copy of which we sent to you in our next letter to you of May 22. We have not been successful in receiving an answer to these letters. We wonder if you have been away from town or have changed your residence. We are at a loss as to what has happened, as the letters have not been returned.

We wish to try again, as your permission to publish those of Gabriela's poems mentioned in our letters to you means a lot to us. We are really in love with our project and have received the most encouraging and enthusiastic letters from all the different Spanish or Spanish-American ^{poets} we have been able to contact. We have received beautiful letters from Dr. Alfonso Reyes, Arturo Capdevila, Rafael Alberti, Francisco Hernández Pinzón (Juan Ramón Jiménez's nephew), Alfredo Mario Ferreiro, Gastón Figueira, Prof. Fermín Estrella Gutiérrez, Germán Berdiales, etc., etc. (The anthology includes hundreds of authors). They have not only granted their permission for the publication of those of their poems which we selected, but many of them have sent us new material or extended their permission to cover any part of their poetical work that we might care to use. We feel that it is no longer our project, but their project and we rejoice in it.

We are eager to get in touch with you. We are sure that once you have knowledge of the nature of our enterprise that you will be desirous to make your contribution. We feel that in the absence of our beloved Gabriela, you will carry on her educational and cultural work.

We are enclosing copies of our former letters to you, hoping that this time they reach you.
