Dear Julia Blanco:

It is hard to find words to thank you enough for the beautiful program you offered at the recent meeting of CIRCULO IBEROAMERICANO EN LA UNIVERSIDAD DE COLUMBIA. In honoring my books, "Selected Poems of Gabriela Mistral" and "Crickets and Frogs," you were honoring Gabriela herself and all the best in Latin American literature.

Your program brought together many aspects of Spanish-American culture, as well as the use of bilingual books in education, of equal interest to the Spanish and English-speaking groups. You presented the many facets of your program with such ease and grace as to belie the long hard work that you had invested in it. As usual with programs which you have organized, the result was superb. You attracted a capacity crowd, a highly receptive and appreciative audience, and offered speakers renowned in artistic and intellectual fields. It was a great privilege to hear two such distinguished Chileans as Professor Mario Meza-Flores and the poet, Nicanor Parra. We all felt indebted to you for the occasion.

I felt especially indebted to Professor Meza-Flores for his kind introductory words about myself. The beautiful diploma conferred on me by CIUC, designed and executed by you, is deeply appreciated and will always be treasured.

My thanks again to all of you at CIUC, and most especially to you and Professor Meza-Flores.

With kind regards,

Doris Dana
