Dear Doris:

Before you left, I forgot to tell you about the name of the ~~book~~ Lovecraft's book I needed for my work:

Autobiography: Some notes on a nonentity^{tiny}. Arkham House, Sank City, Wisconsin, 1963.

I don't think this book is on sale in London. Maybe it is possible to get it photographed. I know only the following reference of his book: "The Fantastic Realism is the only true realism, the only position of man facing universe".

It is necessary to know something more about this statement which ~~reveles~~ that expression is not invention of Pauwel~~as~~ and Bergier. Maybe it comes from Lovecraft.

Rodrigo is in bed with a cold, but enthusiastic. We remember you.

I hope you did O.K. with Vergara. There's nothing specially new. I'm still writing and checking as I do everyday. I hope I get to New York.

Hard embrace

Warm greetings from

Rodrigo

Let me know the price of the book if you discover it and send it to me.
