Dear Miss Godoy:

Since I first read your poetry in the article of Clarence Finlayson (COMMONWEAL, Dec. 5, 1941), I have always experienced much joy and inspiration in rereading it whenever I chance across it.

Now, as Associate Editor of our magazine, THE GRAIL, I should like very much to offer some of your works to our readers. The only ones I am acquainted with are those which have been printed in COMMONWEAL. Is there a collection of your works available?

If you will be so kind, we wish at present to print your "Decalogue of the Artist," and "To a Sower," both, of course, in English translation. The only translation I have are those which Clarence Finlayson included in his COMMONWEAL article. I suppose it was his own translation, as he gave no reference to a translator. If it will be necessary for me to contact him for permission, do you have his address? I am writing COMMONWEAL today for permission to reprint from the article in their pages.

Most grateful to you for your kindness and attention in this matter, and begging God to bless your work abundantly, I am

Sincerely yours,

Raban Hathorn, O.S.B.

Rev. Raban Hathorn, O.S.B.
Associate Editor

P.S. We hope to print these in our April issue. R.H.
