George Davis, Editor
FLAIR MAGAZINE
511 Fifth Avenue
New York, New York

Dear George:

Forgive me for not having written sooner, but I have been so busy with the "mobilization" of the trip to Europe that there has been little free time. But at last everything seems pretty well under control.

For at least the next two weeks, my address will be:

c/o Gabriela Mistral
Hotel Mexico
Jalapa, Veracruz
Mexico

I am most anxious to know how the situation stands now in regard to Gabriela Mistral's article, "The Human Geography of Chile?" As I told you on the telephone before I left, the $300. you mentioned is in no way an adequate price for her article. I hope you will let me know soon, George, what the magazine considers to be a fair "top-price" for the work. By this time you have probably received the complete translation from Miss Thompson, and have in mind a more complete picture of the whole project.

I will be writing you soon about other works of Gabriela's that I think might interest you. Also I plan to see Alfonso Reyes in about a week's time, and hope to be able to send you some information on that angle.

Hoping to hear from you soon -- and my very best regards to you.

Sincerely,

Doris Dana
