Miss Doris Dana,
New York, N. Y.

Dear Miss Dana,

I am sorry to have to bother you again, but as I have not received any answer to my letter of last June enclosing translations of some of Gabriela Mistral's poems, or to a later letter, I am writing again. I should like to know what you and she decided about my translations and whether I might use some of the poems in my anthologies. If so, how much does she feel she must charge? I do not know where she is now so can not write to her personally.

If she does not wish me to use her poems, please let me know, so I can make that statement in the introduction to the anthologies. People would wonder why she was not included. In that case, I should like to have my translations returned.

Thank you for your trouble.

Yours very truly,

Mildred E. Johnson
