Dearest Doris:

I am writing not only to remind you I love you -- which I hope you always know -- but also to give you the name and address of a Cuban writer now living in Mexico City. Do call him up (or if he doesn't have a phone, drop him a card) and try to see him. He is a contact given to me by Anaïs Nin, who says he is a very good writer and nice person. Such a person just might be a comfort to you. If you do get in touch with him, tell him about the magazine and ask him to send us stories for translation.

His name is Ramon Ferreira, and his address is Suite Emperador, Av. Cuauthenoc 614, Mexico 12, D.F.

Anaïs knows many wonderful artists and writers all over South America. Tonight I am going to give her a list of the countries you will visit, and she will give me names to send you.

I know your trip will be wonderful. And I believe so in you that I know you will undo the horrible things done down there by the ~~men~~ bureaucrats wherever you go. I also think this trip is so right for you and G. that you will not have a bad time in Mexico City.

Write if and when you feel like it, but be sure
