MISS G. MISTRAL

Dear Miss Mistral,

At the request of our President, H.E. Rosco, I beg to call your attention to an event which, as our Institute is connected with the development of same and with an activity strictly international and of a high moral and practical value, is of great interest to us.

As a result of a decision taken by the Council of the League of Nations, a Conference will be held in Geneva on October 4, 1933, of the delegates of those countries charged with examining, and making a definite decision on, the International Draft Convention for the abolition of customs duties on films recognised by our Institute as having an educational character.

As I have already said, the importance of this Convention, which has been studied for years and is now enthusiastically acclaimed and supported by the entire world of producers and distributors, insofar as our Institute is concerned, is obvious as the Institute will represent the centre, or starting point, for a vast and complete work created for the purpose of making known all educational cinematograph material for the specific branches mentioned in the Draft Convention.

We sincerely trust that the aforementioned Conference will launch the Convention and will make any modifications thereto which, although they may not be of any great importance, will be advantageous when applied.
