Dear Mr. Bartels:

A friend of mine, Mr. John Dillon, of Dillon, Agnew & Marton Associates of Amsterdam, Holland, gave me your name and suggested you might be of help to me.

I shall be in Spain sometime after January 15, 1967 on a Ford Foundation Grant, microfilming and collecting some important manuscript material by Gabriela Mistral, the Chilean Nobel Prize winner for poetry in 1945. I understand from various scholars who have done work in Spain that it will probably be impossible for me to find good microfilming equipment, if any, through the ordinary cultural channels, such as Universities.

The microfilming I wish to do will result in a book of the correspondence of Gabriela Mistral with Don Miguel Unamuno, the famous Spanish philosopher. I will give the negatives of the microfilms themselves to the Library of Congress in Washington, along with a vast amount of microfilm material that I have prepared in other countries. This project will have considerable publicity both in Spain and in Latin America.

In order to save time before my trip to Spain, I would like to find out where microfilm equipment is located in that Country. In discussing this with John Dillon in London recently, he believed you could inform me where your Company has placed equipment of this nature - possibly in private industry - and whether these companies might offer their facilities, the bills for which would be paid ~~for~~ by Ford Foundation money.

I would appreciate any help you could give me in this matter, and would appreciate the names of any such Companies or Institutions so that I might write to them and set up an arrangement beforehand.

Sincerely yours,

Doris Dana
