March 23, 1965

My dear Laura:

As usual, I have been a very bad girl in not writing to you. Telegrams and telephone calls come naturally to me, but Chile is a little far away for the latter (for telephone calls).

In your letter you said you were leaving for Rome on February 27th. Since your letter was written March 1st, I assume you meant March 27th.

As I said in my telegram of March 4th, I would be absolutely thrilled if you could visit me on your return from Chile. Let me tell you now what has happened this week. My dear friend in Athens has just died, and I am leaving Thursday (the day after tomorrow) for London to spend a few weeks with her sister who is very broken up with the shock. As you know, these two people are like a family to me. I do not plan to stay in London more than twenty days, and I am hoping very much that it will still work out that you can come and visit me in Pound Ridge, or perhaps you might like to come up to London after you visit in Rome and come back with me. This is just a suggestion. Let me give you my address and telephone number in London: Mrs. Phyllis Linott, 11 Carolyn Terrace, S. W. 1, London, England. The telephone number is Sloane 6960. Laura, please write me as soon as you can in London, and let me know what plans might work out.

If you can come to visit me towards the end of April, it will be a lovely time of year here. Both "Ringo", my little black cat, and I will welcome you with open arms, and there are so many things that you could help me with that I would be very grateful.

It was a very bitter blow to find that I could not return to Chile in March as I had planned. I will tell you the story of that in person, however, there will always be another opportunity and of course I will be in Chile again before too long.

I want to get this letter off to you immediately, so will close now.

All my love and gratitude to your Father and Mother, and to you dear Laura.

Love,
