Dear Mrs. Black:

Enclosed with this letter are the bound page proofs of SELECTED POEMS OF GABRIELA MISTRAL, translated and edited by Doris Dana, about which we spoke today.

You will agree, I think, that despite her being a Nobel laureate, Gabriela is not really well known to the English-speaking world. Miss Dana's translations are superb, in every sense worthy of the poetry. For these reasons we think The New Yorker might well wish to publish one or more of them.

June 7 has been selected as publication date for our book. Therefore, I hope you can let me know promptly if you think you shall want to publish excerpts. It would be a favor to have you telephone me, and you may certainly call collect. If you do not wish to use any of the poems, we shall want to talk with another magazine as quickly as possible.

Sincerely,

J. G. Goellner/bd
