Dear Doris:

It looks as if I suggest some hat! All' her coat here at night - quite hot during the day.

By now the book cases must be returned - some Lynna help in place - and Gabriela going into third (high school that is). I hope she won't continue to write in those notebooks that have been classified.
Try to convince her of the impossibility of carrying all that paper on our next trip - or even on the present to Montauk Point.

I shall probably be in N.Y. at the end of this week and shall give you a ring. I do hope Gabriela continues to improve.

It's taken me a little time to get my suit - convenient adjusted so far not being with me. When I'm not quite crazy I think I am in Rulys, still - or in Montreal.
Too much moving in such a short time!

By the way - the last selection of medieval Portuguese poetry in the Oxford Book of Portuguese
Verse, edited by Aubrey Bell (Oxford Un. Press, 114-5 Ave, N.Y.C.)
If Gabriela doesn't have this she should get it. I can order it if she wants it.

Be seeing you soon so we can check on operations.

P.S. - Don't forget that bibliography^{8.3.55} by Alfonso Tenders - you said you may have another copy.

P.S. Regards to Gabriela, Percy Wilbur, Marie, and Douglas.
