Dear Doris:

I just called Alma Montgomery to ask her about the accomodations in Coral Gables-- she will look into it and also said she would meet us at the boat. We will arrive--deco volante in Miami, Wednesday morning at 8 A.M. Just after you called the other night Gabriela began to feel THE EXCESSIVE CONVERSATION of this here place, she said I did nothing but pasear etc. but she came out of it in about an hour. Today I simply told the operator not to ring and she has been resting all day--we have a big room that overlooks the ocean--Gabriela is enjoying the air, the vista etc. Right now she is reading the announcements of houses, terreno etc. in Cuba although she realizes now this is no place for her. The people almost kill her with invitations and there is no way to convince them that gm is not a spring chicken. Nothing to do but flee. Will tell you the whole dulce story when we hit terra firme. Gabriela wrote a note to you yesterday and I simply can't find it--will send it soon as it shows up. gm and I are trying to find some criminal who is willing to steal the little
