My Dear Doris Dana:

The enclosed letter from Sr. Tomie explains itself. In a very round about way I write to you; having also noticed your name in the splendid article by P. J. LaBarthe in La Nueva Democracia recently.

I am well aware that New York is running over with close associates of the beloved Gabriela who are more competent than I to author and produce translations of her works. But in the first flush of feeling in January I sent some 4 translations of poems from my well worn copy of Desolación to the Catholic World. Rev. Sheerin, the editor accepted one, the In Memoriam to Amado Nervo. Then began the quest for permission respecting copyright, which brings me to your door. Please advise me, or better yet, communicate with Rev. John Sheerin C. S. P.
