All members' questions can be easily accommodated by adding either the following two subsections under Answers, or a new subsection Q&A. The questions can also be incorporated.

Answers should be given in a more conversational style than the current answers, which are too formal and academic, possibly reflecting the questioner's level of education.

Some additional questions can be asked related to the implementation of the new framework, such as how changes will affect the way you do your job, what the implications are for students, the expected outcomes, and so on. These questions should be asked in a friendly, informal manner, giving the impression that the questions are being asked by a friend or colleague.

These questions may provide the most open ended responses. The questions required, major decisions, responsibilities, etc. can be asked in the following manner:
"What are the main responsibilities of [the person]?"
"What are the main decisions made by [the person]?"
"What are the main outcomes produced by [the person]?"
"What are the main challenges faced by [the person]?"
"What are the main opportunities available to [the person]?"
