referred to him. The first was a man named George, who had been a member of the church for many years. He was a simple, honest man, and his wife was a kind and gentle woman. They had three children, all of whom were well-educated and successful. The second was a man named John, who had been a member of the church for only a few years. He was a bit more worldly than George, and his wife was a bit more sophisticated. They had two children, both of whom were very intelligent and accomplished. The third was a man named Charles, who had been a member of the church for over twenty years. He was a bit more conservative than the others, and his wife was a bit more traditional. They had four children, all of whom were very successful in their chosen fields.
