My dear Sencrita Mistral,

Your book Tormenta has come and I am very delighted to have it; made doubly precious by your charming inscription and signature. The unpublished poems have come also, and I shall get to work translating them as soon as possible.

I am very glad to know that you are going to be in Washington on May 17th, and I hope very much that you and Sencrita Salas will come to stay with me in Baltimore either before or after your visit to Washington, whichever is most convenient to you. I am sure I can make you comfortable in my quiet house, and I will try to give you just the kind of time you wish while you are with me. Also if you will let me know beforehand what your diet is, I will see that you get what you need, for I know it is sometimes difficult to visit when you are following a regimen. If you can come then we can talk over quietly just what you would like to include in the anthology, and I shall do my best to translate the poems you wish, if I think I can make a success of them.
