Dear Doris:

I've been wondering if the Press has seen its way clear to the Brentano's party. I was optimistic when I left the office but I know how many slips there can be between...

With moving and getting ready for classes (which started on September 8) my three weeks vacation turned into drudgery and I really regretted not being able to take advantage of your invitation. I haven't had a real vacation in three years and by Christmas, when I have a month off, I'm sure I'll be ready to spring in one direction or another. I have fantasies about Spain but I have to be careful because I've had pipe-dreams before. When faced with the decision, I'll probably be content to wait for another six months, and another...

I pass Bryn Mawr on the Paoli local every morning and have you in mind often. Would enjoy hearing from you.

My best,

Frank
