Dear Miss Dana:

I have had a letter from Mr. Whit Burnett in which he asked me to send you the translated poems. This I am doing with a letter I wrote to Mr. Burnett.

I have been away from Phoenix off and on since the beginning of the second semester at the College; consequently, my correspondence has suffered greatly. I missed the first of your letters altogether, but did receive the second with a copy of the first.

Considering what you have to say I feel that these translations are not what you would wish and I want to assure you that you are under no obligations to me in this respect. I simply did not have the time to reproduce them in their own form. Mr. Burnett allowed me little more than a week saying the book was ready to go to press and you well know that this sort of thing needs meticulous study and enough time to do justice to the original.

I have felt greatly honored to be contacted by you through our mutual friend, Frank Thompson, and hope that sometime in the future we may meet.

Most sincerely,

Frances P. Mousseau
