1st May, 1950.

Dear Senor Edward-Bello,

Over 2,000,000 garments as well as other supplies have been sent by the Oxford Committee to refugee children and other war victims in Europe, including Greece, Austria, the British Zone of Germany and Poland. Aid is being sent also to Arab refugees. The total number of refugees still needing help exceeds eleven millions, apart from immediate relief needed for those parts of Greece devastated by the recent fighting.

An outstanding need is for further supplies of clothing and footwear, but the cost of transportation, packing, etc., amounts to an average of 3½d. per garment. Will you not, of your kindness, straightaway send a gift payable to Sir Alan Pin, making it possible to preserve the flow of supplies?

Believe me,

Yours sincerely,

Gilbert Murray.

Hon. Trustee.
