su nuevo libro de poemas

Other life cycle demographic transitions are the ageing of the labour force, the ageing of the population, and the ageing of the dependent population. These three ageing transitions are expected to affect the growth rate of the population, the growth rate of the labour force, and the growth rate of the dependent population. The ageing of the labour force is expected to be the most significant, as it will lead to a decline in the growth rate of the labour force, which in turn will lead to a decline in the growth rate of the population. The ageing of the population is expected to be the second most significant, as it will lead to a decline in the growth rate of the population, which in turn will lead to a decline in the growth rate of the dependent population. The ageing of the dependent population is expected to be the least significant, as it will lead to a decline in the growth rate of the dependent population, which in turn will lead to a decline in the growth rate of the population.
