As a result, the use of the information system is not a simple matter of providing the user with a set of instructions and a set of data. It is a complex process that involves the user, the system, and the environment. The user must be able to interact with the system in a way that is meaningful and useful. The system must be able to process the user's input and provide the user with the information they need. The environment must be able to support the user and the system. The user, the system, and the environment must all be able to interact with each other in a way that is meaningful and useful.

The previous publication was a 1986 report titled the "Whitepaper", based on 1986 government of India's previous "Eropa" policy after the new leader started drafting "New India's Whitepaper".
