

Physicians and the Environment

A Special Report

The physician's role in the environment is a complex one. It involves not only the treatment of individual patients but also the promotion of public health and the protection of the environment. The physician must be aware of the environmental factors that can affect the health of his patients and the community as a whole. This awareness is essential for the physician to provide the best possible care for his patients and to contribute to the well-being of the community.
