Patricia Sue Moore

is a professor of art, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. She has published papers in Reference Services Review and Journal of Academic Librarianship.

As librarians, we are constantly faced with the need to provide information in a variety of ways. One way to do this is through the use of picture bibliographies. These are bibliographies that use pictures to illustrate the information being presented. They can be used in a variety of ways, from providing a visual overview of a topic to providing a more detailed look at a specific aspect of a topic.
